Please vote 'Yes' for life on November 8

My Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

On June 24, 2022 the prayers of those who support the dignity and worth of all human life were answered when the United States Supreme Court struck down the Roe v. Wade decision of 1973. That decision had asserted that the right to an abortion was guaranteed by the U.S. constitution and thus was guaranteed in all 50 states. The recent Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization reversed this.

Many of us in the pro-life movement celebrated this development and perhaps are inclined to rest on this monumental accomplishment. But we should be clear that the Dobbs decision does not outlaw abortion, but rather sends the matter back to each of the 50 states for state legislatures to resolve.

The pro-life cause is not complete – even in Kentucky. On election day, November 8, 2022, we have an opportunity to vote on an amendment to our state constitution clearly stating that the Kentucky constitution does NOT guarantee a right to abortion in the Commonwealth. This can preclude any judge now or in the future from asserting that this right may be interpreted in our present constitution or requiring public funding for abortion.

To be clear: this amendment does not in itself outlaw abortion, but rather leaves that question to the state legislature.

The question on the ballot regarding Amendment #2 will ask: Are you in favor of amending the constitution of Kentucky by creating a new Section of the constitution to be numbered Section 26A to state as follows: "To protect human life, nothing in this constitution shall be construed to secure or protect a right to abortion or require the funding of abortion."

A "Yes" vote supports amending the Kentucky Constitution to state that nothing in the state constitution creates a right to abortion or requires government funding for abortion.

Even many pro-life supporters have been uneasy about some state laws across the country that do not permit any exceptions even when the mother's life is endangered. Still others may wish an amendment could be even more restrictive. This amendment does not require any particular restrictions or prohibit any exceptions. The state legislature would have the ability to determine abortion policy and law.

In the political climate we find ourselves in today I believe that this is a good amendment and I urge you to prayerfully consider this matter and vote "Yes" for Amendment #2 on November 8, 2022. ■

Why choose natural family planning?

An interview with two natural family planning teachers in our diocese

Note: The Western Kentucky Catholic recently interviewed Megan Bell and Martha Winn, two of several women in our diocese who teach Natural Family Planning, or NFP. While NFP is known as a way to morally space out pregnancies without the use of artificial contraception, these two instructors delve into more reasons why a woman might consider learning more about these methods of fertility awareness.

Megan Bell

Murray, Ky.

What method do you teach and how long have you taught it?

I teach the Billings Ovulation Method and have taught for two years.

Tell me about your journey of using NFP, and why you decided to help others learn it too.

I love teaching NFP because as a couple you are not only following God's beautiful design for the human body, but also as a married couple my husband and I are committing ourselves wholly to one another and respecting one another for the person that God made each one of us to be.

NFP faces criticism from some that either it's too difficult or doesn't work. What are your responses to debunk these myths?

NFP does require a certain stage of learning and certainly requires attention and following rules. Again, God created us perfectly and NFP supports His plan for the human body. Once a couple becomes comfortable with the rules of the NFP method, the beauty of why the Church supports NFP and the bonds that are strengthened between a husband and wife make the NFP method easy. Not only easy, but you may begin to question why you would ever try anything different!

What community support is available for couples who use NFP?

Couples who wish to learn more about the Billings Ovulation Method can visit the website www.boma-usa.org. There are also many social media groups that support couples who have questions or for couples who would like to join a community of NFP users. Of course, couples may also contact me with any questions or concerns!

Martha Winn

Bowling Green, Ky.

What method do you teach and how long have you taught it?

I have been teaching the Billings Ovulation Method since 2003. My responsibilities with BOMA-USA include supervising Teacher Trainees, conducting certification trainings and serving as the chair of the education committee. I am also an Associate Director for WOOMB Int.

Tell me about your journey of using NFP, and why you decided to help others learn it too.

My journey began in nursing school when I realized the medical advantages of NFP. My husband Earl and I heard about it in marriage preparation. We were married in 1981, and the Theology of the Body Wednesday audience talks of St. John Paul II were happening between 1979 and 1984. Without the internet, the information was not widely circulated. In the years to follow, not only the principles of Theology of the Body, but many other beautiful Church documents, were pivotal in our faith journey. Though we used NFP from the beginning of our marriage, we grew in the understanding of the “why NFP.” Eventually, I had some friends who were not Catholic inquire about NFP. I felt this was a prompting of the Holy Spirit to become certified, which I did. I have taught those in my faith community, other faith communities, and those with no faith at all. I love to communicate the “what” and the “why” of NFP. Understanding patterns of fertility/infertility enables couples to conceive pregnancy, space pregnancy, or to monitor reproductive health.

How might NFP help a woman monitor her health and fertility beyond trying to avoid/achieve a pregnancy?

A growing field of restorative reproductive medicine with a focus on treating the root cause of cycle disturbances has increased the demand for fertility awareness educators. Certified NFP teachers make referrals to providers with specialized education. The accurate chart can help diagnose and treat many conditions such as PCOS (polycystic ovarian syndrome), endometriosis, and causes of infertility. Certification requests from medical practices have increased at an exponential rate in response to patient demand. The growing network of healthcare providers is encouraging.

A twofold celebration: Passionists break ground for expansion; celebrate mother superior’s 25th anniversary

BY ELIZABETH WONG BARNSTEAD, THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

Standing before a crowd of friends, family and supporters outside St. Joseph Monastery on Sept. 10, Mother John Mary Read, CP, attempted to hold back tears of joy in expressing her gratitude for reaching this point in her community’s Cherish the Flame renovation campaign.

“I thank you for helping us to cherish our roots and build this future,” said Mother John Mary, the mother superior of the cloistered Passionist nuns who live at the monastery in Whitesville, Ky.

Following a 2018 assessment that indicated a need to improve the living spaces and overall sustainability for the growing community, the nuns had determined that a renovation was in order. Cherish the Flame kicked off in early 2020 with a goal of $3,975,000. To date, $3,498,841 has been pledged and $3,123,914 received.

That afternoon of Sept. 10, as blue skies broke through the clouds, the nuns celebrated the official groundbreaking for the expansion project, which will add a new wing with a new community room, an exercise room, a storage room and a Chapter Room – the sacred, confidential space where nuns gather to discern and discuss important decisions.

The project will also add covered cloister walkways and improvements to the retreat house section; namely, a shaded outdoor patio, a spiritual direction room and an entrance door awning.

“We have truly been encouraged by all of you, our friends and benefactors,” said Mother John Mary. “You have a special share in our life of prayer and sacrifice as we bring Jesus to the world. We are blessed to live out our lives of consecration on your behalf.”

Those present at the groundbreaking included Bishop William F. Medley and Rick Bivins of JMJ Construction, who is leading the renovation.

The bishop commented that though the nuns might not be seen by the public on a regular basis, "their presence in this diocese is important and immeasurable. We thank God for them."

Bivins, the founder and president of JMJ Construction, said that when they formed the construction company 28 years ago, his two eldest children suggested "JMJ" for "Jesus, Mary, Joseph."

For years, "I wondered what those three (as in Jesus, Mary and Joseph) had in mind for JMJ," said Bivins, a Catholic. Now, standing at St. Joseph Monastery and about to embark on this renovation, "I think I know."

The groundbreaking was far from the only celebration that day. Earlier, the monastery had celebrated the 25th anniversary of Mother John Mary's solemn profession as a Passionist nun with a special Mass presided over by her brother, Fr. Jeff Read of the Diocese of Evansville, Ind.

The homilist, Fr. Corey D. Bruns, stated that "our world needs cloistered nuns."

"Even though your life may be hidden away from normal day-to-day... your witness is needed," said Fr. Bruns, speaking of cloistered nuns' quiet life of prayer interceding for the whole world. "Your answer to your baptismal call is needed."

Speaking directly to Mother John Mary, Fr. Bruns added that "you, dear Mother, have shown us that you would 'rather one day in his courts than a thousand elsewhere.'" ■

St. Vincent de Paul offers ‘House in a Box’ for western Ky. tornado survivors

BY ELIZABETH WONG BARNSTEAD, THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

Nancy Harris, the president of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul of Western Kentucky, likes to say, “it’s a ‘House in a Box’ – but there’s no box!”

“House in a Box,” which is a program out of the national Society of St. Vincent de Paul’s Disaster Service Corporation, would not even fit in a box. It’s actually an initiative to provide survivors of natural disasters with basic furniture and furnishings as they transition to their new homes.

Founded in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, the program is “kind of a house starter kit,” according to Richard Remp-Morris, the executive director/CEO of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul of Western Kentucky.

Remp-Morris and his fellow Vincentians have recently started offering House in a Box services for the survivors of the December 2021 tornadoes that struck western Kentucky.

They were thrilled upon receiving a $1.7 million grant from American Red Cross, and have projected that they should be able to serve 500 families.

“The vetting process will be a combination of Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Owensboro and long-term recovery groups” as well as other faith-based organizations serving the region, said Remp-Morris.

Catholic Charities and these other groups will then refer clients to SVDP, who will “organize and get things together for each family,” said Remp-Morris.

All of the items are being stored in a warehouse in Owensboro. Remp-Morris said they would have preferred to use a location closer to where the tornadoes struck, but storage facilities are still limited in those regions – plus, the landlord leased them the warehouse at a fraction of the lease cost.

The warehouse manager, Patrick Clary, has a mockup display of the House in a Box “kit” at the entrance of the warehouse, so that visitors can see the variety of items provided.

The units are automatically set up for a family of four, but can be adjusted according to how many members there are of each family. Items include basic dining room sets, beds, kitchen wares, and appliances – “obviously things that people need,” said Remp-Morris.

He said they would still have provided House in a Box even without the Red Cross grant – “because of our partners, donors and other grants” – but this way they can serve more people than they ever imagined possible.

The Red Cross grant will permit them to offer House in a Box for about 16 months, but it could possibly last longer if more donors were to step up.

Remp-Morris said that when SVDP initially started working on tornado recovery efforts, “I had a lady call me, crying, right after the tornado. She said, ‘I’m on a fixed income and I can only send $5.’”

Remp-Morris told her, “Ma’am, there are no small gifts.” ■

BY ELIZABETH WONG BARNSTEAD, THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

Back in December 2021, when western Kentucky was devastated by historic tornadoes, Catholics from dioceses around the Bluegrass State responded by sending more than $2 million to help the Diocese of Owensboro respond to survivors’ needs.

At the end of July 2022, torrential rains and deadly flooding struck eastern Kentucky, which includes the Diocese of Lexington. According to Governor Andy Beshear, at least 14 counties and three cities declared local states of emergency.

Bishop William F. Medley released a letter on Aug. 1 to the faithful of the Diocese of Owensboro calling to mind the generosity of their eastern Kentucky neighbors in the aftermath of the tornadoes.

“Now it’s our turn to repay their kindness,” the bishop wrote. He asked all 78 parishes to take up a special collection and to be “as generous as possible” in responding to the floods.

Bishop Medley added that his diocese was “overwhelmed” by the “outpouring of love, support and generosity” of Catholics from the dioceses of Louisville, Covington and Lexington, and that “it is a blessing that we now have the opportunity to respond in the same way to our brothers and sisters on the other side of the state.”

The governor’s office reported that as of Sept. 13, there had been 40 deaths from the floods and two individuals were still missing. More than 78,000 tons of debris have since been removed from land and another 37,000 tons were removed from water.

As of Sept. 19, the Diocese of Owensboro had received approximately $228,000 to send to flood recovery in eastern Kentucky. Of that total, $190,000 was received from its diocesan parishes and the remaining $38,000 came from individuals, foundations, and others.

While still in the midst of western Kentucky tornado recovery efforts, Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Owensboro has been working to assist flood survivors as well.

Katina Hayden, Catholic Charities of the Diocese of Owensboro’s director of case management, traveled with several fellow staff members in mid-August to transport a trailer of donated supplies to eastern Kentucky.

Hayden told The Western Kentucky Catholic that the resilience she witnessed among the flood survivors “was amazing.”

She said when she began gathering information about the families’ needs, she was moved by how “they were very open to talking with us. When we gave them gift cards to assist the families they hugged us in gratitude.”

As she and staff walked through the hard-hit City of Fleming-Neon, Hayden said families “were cleaning and mucking out their businesses and homes but stopped to say hello or wave as if we had always been in their community.” ■

The needs of flood survivors, and the ongoing needs of tornado survivors, are specific to each family. At this time, monetary donations are most appreciated so that survivors can purchase what they need. To send a donation, please visit <https://owensborodiocese.org/give/>.

Fr. Maury Riney, 71, was ‘a good, gifted person’ and ‘many people loved him’

BY ELIZABETH WONG BARNSTEAD, THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

Fr. Maury Riney, a priest of the Diocese of Owensboro, passed away on Sept. 16, 2022 at Owensboro Health Regional Hospital, following 45 years of dedicated priestly service. He was 71.

Born in Owensboro on March 18, 1951, Fr. Riney studied for the priesthood at St. Mary Seminary in St. Mary, Ky., and at Saint Meinrad Seminary in St. Meinrad, Ind. He was ordained by Bishop Henry J. Soenneker at St. Stephen Cathedral in Owensboro on May 7, 1977.

Fr. Riney served in many parishes across the diocese, including St. Stephen Cathedral, Immaculate Parish in Owensboro, St. Michael Parish in Sebree, St. Paul Parish in Grayson County, St. Elizabeth Parish in Clarkson, St. Rose Parish in Cloverport, St. Sebastian Parish in Calhoun, St. Charles Parish in Livermore, St. Mary of the Woods Parish in Whitesville, St. Pius X Parish in Owensboro, St. Martin Parish in Rome and Holy Name of Jesus Parish in Henderson, where he resided until he moved to the Carmel Home in Owensboro.

Fr. Riney had a deep compassion for the sick and suffering. He served for a period of time as a chaplain at the Carmel Home and in pastoral care ministry at Owensboro Health Regional Hospital.

“Fr. Maury didn’t know a stranger,” said Shannon Long, the parish nurse at Holy Name. She said that as Fr. Riney’s own health declined, and she accompanied him to doctor’s appointments, he never failed to greet everyone he encountered – many of them being people he knew.

“He would always ask how they were doing and how were their families,” she said. “No matter how badly he was feeling, he would ask about others. He was always loving, always caring.”

Fr. Riney often celebrated Mass at parishes around western Kentucky when a pastor was unavailable. He “took pride” in being a regular substitute across the diocese, which is how he came to know so many people, said Long.

In the 1980s, Fr. Riney worked in the diocese’s communications department with now-retired Western Kentucky Catholic editor, Mel Howard, and contributed to writing and photography.

Howard said Fr. Riney loved good food and spending time with people, especially at lunchtime.

“He introduced me to Little T’s Diner down on Second Street,” said Howard.

Donna Biggs, the switchboard operator at the McRaith Catholic Center – the diocese’s pastoral center – said she grew in friendship with Fr. Riney over a shared love of animals.

“His dog Sparky was a special dog in his life, and his cat, Anastasia,” said Biggs, who ultimately became Anastasia’s caretaker.

Biggs said she and her husband, John, became close with Fr. Riney over the years.

“He was just a very faith-filled, lovable person,” she said. “He made me happy to be around him, and I never once heard him say something derogatory about anyone.”

Biggs said Fr. Riney was “a good, gifted person, and many people loved him.”

“I will miss him – I do miss him,” she said.

Fr. Riney was preceded in death by his parents, Thomas Marnell Riney and Mary Edna Russell. He is survived by his sisters, Ann Petrie (Gerald) of Indianapolis, Ind., and Cynthia Rumage (Michael) of Florence, Ky.; two nieces; two nephews; and many dear friends.

The funeral Mass took place Sept. 20 at Holy Name of Jesus Parish in Henderson. Fr. Riney was laid to rest at Resurrection Catholic Cemetery in Owensboro. ■

Blessed John Paul I, 'the smiling pope,' showed God's goodness, pope says

VATICAN CITY (CNS) — Beatifying Blessed John Paul I, Pope Francis praised the late pope for showing the world God's goodness and for living the Gospel without compromise. "Our new blessed lived that way: in the joy of the Gospel, without compromises, loving to the very end," the pope said. "He embodied the poverty of the disciple, which is not only detachment from material goods, but also victory over the temptation to put oneself at the center, to seek one's own glory" as he followed the example of Jesus and was "a meek and humble pastor," he said. The pope spoke during a homily in St. Peter's Square at a Sept. 4 Mass attended by an estimated 25,000 people under dark skies and rain, with an occasional roll of thunder and clap of lightning. "With a smile, Pope John Paul managed to communicate the goodness of the Lord. How beautiful is a church with a happy, serene and smiling face, a church that never closes doors, never hardens hearts, never complains or harbors resentment, does not grow angry or impatient, does not look dour or suffer nostalgia for the past," the pope said. "Let us pray to him, our father and our brother, and ask him to obtain for us 'the smile of the soul'" that is "transparent, that does not deceive," Pope Francis said. "Let us pray, in his own words, 'Lord take me as I am, with my defects, with my shortcomings, but make me become what you want me to be.'" ■

Ukrainians 'feel the power of your prayer,' says major archbishop

LVIV, Ukraine (CNS) — Catholics in Ukraine feel the prayers of Christians around the world, said Archbishop Sviatoslav Shevchuk of Kyiv-Halych, major archbishop of the Ukrainian Catholic Church. "We do not just believe, but feel the power of your prayer, which stops the war and is the source of our optimism (and) hope that together we will defeat evil, and peace will bless our homeland," the archbishop said Sept. 14, a special day designated by European bishops as a day of prayer for Ukraine. Noting that Latin-rite Catholics marked the feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross that day, Archbishop Shevchuk said: "It's in the crucified Savior that Europe and the believing world see today crucified (in) Ukraine. His Holiness Pope Francis, whom we accompany to Kazakhstan in prayer, invites Christian believers on this day to see the wounds of the crucified Savior in the wounds of Ukraine." He thanked Lithuanian Archbishop Gintaras Grusas of Vilnius, president of the Council of European Bishops' Conferences, for planning the day of prayer, in which people were encouraged to kneel before the Blessed Sacrament to pray for peace in Ukraine. European bishops repeatedly have joined Pope Francis in calling for weapons to be silenced, war to be ended, and for efforts to promote peace. ■

British Catholics, Pope Francis pay tribute to Queen Elizabeth II

MANCHESTER, England (CNS) — Catholics in the U.K. paid tribute to Queen Elizabeth II following her death Sept. 8 and the end of a reign that lasted more than 70 years. Pope Francis sent a telegram addressed "To His Majesty the King, Charles III," her son who immediately ascended to the throne. "I willingly join all who mourn her loss in praying for the late queen's eternal rest and in paying tribute to her life of unstinting service to the good of the nation and the Commonwealth, her example of devotion to duty, her steadfast witness of faith in Jesus Christ and her firm hope in his promises," Pope Francis said. The British sovereign died "peacefully" at Balmoral, the royal residence in Scotland, surrounded by members of her family. She was 96. Cardinal Vincent Nichols of Westminster, president of the Bishops' Conference of England and Wales, paid tribute using many of the queen's own words. "On 21 April 1947, on her 21st birthday, Princess Elizabeth said, 'I declare before you all that my whole life, whether it be long or short, shall be devoted to your service,'" Cardinal Nichols said. "Now, 75 years later, we are heartbroken in our loss at her death and so full of admiration for the unfailing way in which she fulfilled that declaration." "Even in my sorrow, shared with so many around the world, I am filled with an immense sense of gratitude for the gift to the world that has been the life of Queen Elizabeth II. At this time, we pray for the repose of the soul of Her Majesty. We do so with confidence, because the Christian faith marked every day of her life and activity." ■

‘Young at Heart’ St. Leo’s dedicated ministry to older adults thrives as a spiritual, social opportunity

The 2022-2023 season of St. Leo Parish’s “Young at Heart” ministry began on Tuesday, Sept. 13 with a chicken dinner kick-off. Pictured are the reunited members of “Young at Heart” who are happy to be together now that COVID restrictions are lessening.

BY YOUNG AT HEART ORGANIZERS, SPECIAL TO THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

More than 10 years ago, Andy and Karen Balzer, parishioners at St. Leo Parish in Murray, Ky., were very involved with hospitality ministry at Saturday and Sunday Masses. Through their ministry, the Balzers did more than open the door for those entering the church; they made a special effort to get to know all who entered and would have conversations with them – young and old, families and individuals. However, they paid extra attention to older adults, as many of them had moved to Murray upon retiring. The families of many of the older parishioners do not live in Murray. After a couple years, it became evident to Andy and Karen that there was a need for spiritual and social interaction for this population.

Andy and Karen Balzer met with Fr. Jason McClure, pastor at the time, and Emily Danchisin, pastoral associate at the time, to discuss the possibility of organizing a group to provide anyone who is “young at heart,” an “empty nester,” or just in need of fellowship to join the monthly festivities and a potluck meal at the parish center. Fr. Jason and Emily agreed with the Balzers that there was a need to serve this population of the parish. Hence, Andy and Karen reached out to the parish community and organized “Young at Heart.”

The initial gathering was scheduled on a Saturday at noon as a potluck with St. Leo providing the main course and beverages. It was requested of longtime parishioners to bring photographs of the early days of St. Leo to share with everyone in attendance. Andy and Karen also asked everyone what would they enjoy or be interested in. Taking suggestions to heart, each month the Balzers structured potluck meals around a theme. In October, Oktoberfest is celebrated with brats and sauerkraut. Of course, December is a Christmas celebration with a “Dirty Santa” gift exchange and March features St. Patrick’s Day with corned beef and cabbage. Those who attend are asked to bring a side dish and/or dessert. The parish, with the financial assistance of the Knights of Columbus, provides the meat (or main dish) and beverages for the meal.

In the past, guest speakers from Baptist Health Home Care and nursing students from Murray State University shared important and “entertaining” information on physical therapy, home health services, and breast cancer awareness. Newman House students and MSU music students have provided musical entertainment. Everyone’s favorite session is “Ask the Priest” in which our pastor entertains questions pertaining to the parish or the Catholic Church. Another favorite are Trivial Pursuit competitions.

The majority of the “Young at Heart” attendees are retired. The group now meets once per month, following a weekday noon Mass, September through May. Prior to the pandemic, attendance had reached almost 40 each month. When “Young at Heart” could finally resume in November 2021, everyone’s faces lit up with huge smiles and tears upon entering the parish center. Slowly but surely, the group is picking up steam as folks are feeling more comfortable as COVID restrictions are being lifted. The 2022-2023 season began on Tuesday, Sept. 13 with a chicken dinner kick-off. Fr. Josh McCarty entertained the group with a photo presentation depicting his trip to the Holy Land in June 2022. “Young At Heart” has become like a family by sharing stories, jokes, memories, prayers, and compassion, while sharing a meal. They have become the matriarchs and patriarchs of St. Leo Parish.

Should other parishes in the Diocese of Owensboro be interested in forming this ministry, please contact Andy and Karen Balzer at kbalzer@murray-ky.net or (270) 767-0579. ■

New signage on campus of St. Stephen Cathedral increases welcome for visitors

BY ST. STEPHEN CATHEDRAL PARISH STAFF,
SPECIAL TO THE WESTERN KENTUCKY
CATHOLIC

The next time that you are in Owensboro visiting St. Stephen Cathedral or the diocesan offices next door, you may notice the new signage that has been put in place! Both of these locations are often a destination for visitors from across western Kentucky and beyond. You may find that when you enter the address into the GPS, sometimes it is difficult to find exactly where to go.

Many diocesan liturgies are held at the cathedral, such as ordinations of priests and deacons, liturgies for the Sophia Awards and marriage celebrations, and other special events. In addition to many parish activities, the cathedral is the location for weddings, funerals, and the Arts at the Cathedral Concert Series, which are often attended by non-parishioners. The parish office building is the home to a very active St. Vincent de Paul Society along with a food pantry, which serves those in need in the area. Next door, the McRaith Catholic Center is home to the diocesan offices and Cathedral Preschool with 100 3, 4, and 5-year-old children. All of this is in the 600 block of Locust Street, with many locations and doors to choose from.

In an effort to provide a more welcoming and hospitable environment, campus signage has been installed around the campus. It is intended to help visitors find available parking and give directions to the various offices and locations. The next time you join us at St. Stephen Cathedral or the McRaith Catholic Center, we hope you will feel more welcome and are able to navigate your way around! ■

September sees first Hispanic women's Cursillo in the Diocese of Owensboro

BY DR. VICKY BARNES, SPECIAL TO THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

De Colores! What a great blessing to have witnessed the First Hispanic Women's Catholic Cursillo in Kentucky! The presence of these Hispanic women is a testimony of faith for everyone!

I lived my Cursillo a little bit after my husband, Dcn. Tim Barnes, in the Diocese of Owensboro, Ky., in March 2019. Cursillo is an apostolic movement in the Catholic Church. It focuses on showing Christian laypeople how to become effective Christians, sharing the good news by the best way of friendship. "Make a friend, be a friend, bring a friend to Christ," is the Cursillo motto.

The first Cursillo in the United States was held in Texas in 1957. Cursillo has been in the Diocese of Owensboro for decades, but history was made recently as the first Hispanic Women's Cursillo occurred on Sept. 8-11 at the Gaspar River Retreat Center.

The Lord granted that the first Hispanic women's Cursillo be held in our diocese on the day we celebrate the birth of our Virgin Mary, Sept. 8. This weekend was made possible by the hard work and prayers of many priests, deacons and Cursillistas from both the Diocese of Owensboro and the Diocese of Nashville, Tenn. Fr. Basilio Az Cuz of St. Thomas More and I (of Sts. Peter and Paul Parish in Hopkinsville) were the points of contact. This Cursillo had women from Guatemala, Mexico, Colombia, Honduras, El Salvador, Panama, Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico, Peru, and the United States.

Fr. Carmelo Jimenez and Fr. Lustein Blanco were the spiritual directors and gave several religious talks for the weekend. The team from Nashville and from Sts. Peter and Paul, under the amazing leadership of Elba Avila from Nashville, co-hosted the Cursillo. The team included Karina Padilla, Betsy Ibanez, Carolina Herrera, Andrea Ramirez, Irma Guzman, Maria Herrera, Ana Regina Andrade, Maria Eugenia Hernandez, Mary Ortiz, Vicki Kinnard, Elodia Mariscal, Maria Sanchez, Susana Flores, Felicia Elliot and myself. Special thanks to Martin Schroeder for driving the candidates from Hopkinsville.

The new Cursillistas who lived the weekend were Yolanda Perry, Ellis Salas, Bertha Rico, Maria Rosas, Maria Macario and Neria Bernal. These women left Gaspar River on fire and filled with the Holy Spirit. Some of the phrases heard were, "I am eager to learn more about my Lord," "Now, I know that Jesus loves me too," "I am not alone," "The Lord has blessed us abundantly," "I have never received so much love and generosity," and "With the Lord everything is possible."

The closing ceremony of the weekend was very emotional and included many Cursillistas from Owensboro and Nashville who came from far and near to show their support for the new Cursillistas who chose to say "Yes" to the Lord. As the weekend came to a close and new and old Cursillistas got in their cars to go home, a torrential rain had begun, but there was no fear of the weather, they fully trusted that God had everything under control. ■

Disciples Response Fund helps cathedral feed hungry neighbors

BY WKC STAFF

St. Stephen Cathedral recently utilized a $3,000 grant from the Disciples Response Fund to fund their Cathedral Food Pantry. The active food pantry is utilized on a daily basis and staff has seen the need increasing.

In the first two months of the cathedral's fiscal year, more than $15,000 was spent on purchasing non-perishable food items.

Up until recently, they had not kept track of exactly how many were served through the food pantry. But in the month of August, cathedral staff began asking everyone who requested food for their first name. The purpose of obtaining first names was so that the staff could pray for each person by name during weekly staff meetings. Just during the week of Aug. 15, they served 142 people in need of food. The following week, they served more than 186 individuals.

Currently the food pantry functions with the assistance of parishioners who make financial contributions; a volunteer who makes grocery store trips several times a week to keep the food pantry stocked; volunteers who bag groceries in the office several times a week, ensuring that the bags of food are ready to be handed out the door upon request; and volunteers and staff who distribute the food to those in need.

The Disciples Response Fund is the annual appeal of the Diocese of Owensboro and provides grants for parish, Catholic school, Catholic organizations and others seeking to further the Gospel of Jesus by helping those in spiritual or physical need. # Brescia University announces three new ways to pursue theology studies

BY DEACON TIM NUGENT, SPECIAL TO THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

Brescia University is pleased to announce the addition of three new pathways for students to advance their academic engagement in the Theology field of study. In addition to a B.A. Degree with a Major in Theology and a B.A. Degree with a Major in Theology with an Emphasis in Pastoral Studies already offered, Brescia now offers a Pre-Baccalaureate Certificate in Theology, an Associate of Arts Degree in Theology, and a Post-Baccalaureate Certificate in Theology.

These new Brescia initiatives ensure that individuals can enter a Theology program with any educational background and advance their academic training. The purpose of these programs is to prepare students who wish to serve the Church in catechetical and/or lay ministerial roles in the Church, to provide continuing education for students who may already be serving the Church, and to cultivate the personal, spiritual, theological, pastoral, and professional qualities needed for effective Christian ministry in an ever-evolving world.

These endeavors embrace Brescia's mission: "Brescia University is a Catholic, liberal arts institution founded in the Ursuline tradition of personal and social transformation through education. Directed to academic and moral excellence in a student-centered environment, Brescia offers undergraduate and graduate programs that serve students who seek success through rewarding careers and service to others." The Theology Program at Brescia University is grounded in the Roman Catholic faith tradition and reflects the Second Vatican Council's commitments to ecumenism, religious liberty, a deeper study of the wellsprings of the sources of the Catholic tradition, and a reaffirmation of traditional religious vocations. It supports the Council's emphasis on lay ecclesial ministry. Finally, the programs embody Brescia's commitment to students: "empowering YOU today to make a difference tomorrow."

Fr. Larry Hostetter, President of Brescia University, expresses excitement with the pathways for students to study Theology, "These new initiatives make our classes and programming, along with our experienced faculty, more accessible to those who wish to further their understanding whether for their own spiritual growth or with the intended outcome being to better serve their church community. This opportunity makes sense because we are the only Catholic institution in Western Kentucky and sharing our mission and serving others is what Christ calls us to do."

The Pre-Baccalaureate Certificate is a 15-credit program that can be completed in less than two academic years. The courses provide foundational studies in the Old Testament, the New Testament, Theology, Catechetical and Youth Ministry, and Spirituality and Vocations. Online classes will promote flexibility and access to students across the diocese.

To learn more about these and other programs, visit www.brescia.edu/apply. ■

Together, let's ensure that Kentucky's unborn are protected for years to come

Jason D. Hall is the executive director of Catholic Conference of Kentucky.

BY JASON D. HALL, SPECIAL TO THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

On November 8, 2022, Kentucky voters have a unique opportunity to take a stand for the sanctity of life.

On June 24, the United States Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade, the 1973 decision that established access to abortion as a constitutional right. For almost 50 years, the courts have set the parameters of the abortion debate. In many ways, Roe created the abortion debate as we have known it these past five decades. Now that it's gone, the debate has moved to the states.

Kentucky has a long history of enacting pro-life legislation. The General Assembly has enacted a strong informed consent statute, restrictions on abortion after 20 weeks, and more recently 15 weeks.

Most significant, however, is HB 148 from the 2019 session. In HB 148, legislators enacted what is known as a "trigger law." It is called that because it was written to take effect (or "trigger") when the Supreme Court overturned Roe. That law immediately took effect and prohibited all abortions that are not necessary to save the life or health of the mother.

Kentucky's two abortion providers filed suit in Kentucky courts, arguing for a right to abortion under the Kentucky Constitution. On July 22, Jefferson Circuit Judge Mitch Perry agreed and prevented the trigger law from being enforced for a time, temporarily allowing abortions to continue. The Court of Appeals vacated that injunction and the law is currently in effect, but ultimately this will be decided by the Kentucky Supreme Court.

If the abortion providers prevail, it would result in a state-level Roe v. Wade decision, striking down most or all of the pro-life laws listed above.

Kentucky is not the first state to see this problem arise. In recent years, Iowa and Kansas have seen their state courts declare that their constitutions protect a right to abortion, striking down the pro-life laws passed by their state legislatures.

We can prevent this from happening here. This November, voters will be asked to approve a constitutional amendment that will prevent our state courts from ever issuing a decision like Roe v. Wade. The amendment is very simple and straightforward. It says:

"To protect human life, nothing in this Constitution shall be construed to secure or protect a right to abortion or require the funding of abortion."

On the ballot, this will be Amendment #2, presented to the voters as a yes/no question. This is a unique opportunity to express a clear pro-life vote.

Remember to vote. Remember to go to the end of the ballot to vote YES on Amendment #2. Remind friends and family to vote YES. Consider volunteering to speak at your parish or other events during this October's Respect Life month, in the weeks leading up to the election.

This is an exciting time for the cause of life. If we can educate and turn out the vote, we can ensure that the Kentucky's unborn are protected for many years to come. ■

Vote YES for life!

Election day is November 8, 2022.

Remember to vote YES on Amendment #2 – Kentucky's Pro-Life Constitutional Amendment.

This is what you will see on the ballot:

"Are you in favor of amending the Constitution of Kentucky by creating a new Section of the Constitution to be numbered Section 26A to state as follows: To protect human life, nothing in this Constitution shall be construed to secure or protect a right to abortion or require the funding of abortion?"

A simple way to evangelize

BY DR. JEFF ANDRINI, OFFICE OF
EVANGELIZATION AND DISCIPLESHIP

I recently watched a webinar by one of my favorite business mentors, Patrick Lencioni. He consults for Fortune 500 companies like Boeing, Chick-fil-A and Southwest Airlines, and has authored more than a dozen bestselling business books over the past 25 years. Turns out, he's Catholic! Ten years ago, he co-founded The Amazing Parish, a training and consulting ministry for Catholic parishes. Check it out at amazingparish.org!

The webinar was titled "The Simple Discipline of Evangelization." It was indeed simple, but it might make some Catholics a little uncomfortable. Why? Evangelization seems like a Protestant practice and Catholics don't do this, right? Additionally, telling someone about Jesus can seem a little intrusive as we often keep our faith to ourselves and try to live our faith and not necessarily talk about it, for various reasons. But this webinar offered one practice that all Catholics can do each day. It will transform how Catholics share their faith and will plant seeds of faith all over our communities.

Adults often overcomplicate evangelization. Kids look at situations and see simple, straightforward solutions, and adults often overthink things and may end up not acting. When it comes to evangelization, we build a committee or host a program – and this can be good – but there is no silver bullet. Instead, we need to model and practice living our faith in Jesus each day.

This simple practice will transform your home, workplace, and parish. It will help you to grow as a missionary disciple by being open to the Holy Spirit and trusting that God will put you in places to communicate God's love and care. Are you ready? It is super simple and a little uncomfortable. The natural fear might be that one will get rejected or feel insecure, but when one pushes through these initial 10 seconds, God will surprise you in how these conversations will go. Practice at home, try it with friends and challenge your Catholic friends to try it too.

Okay, here it is. Ask this question to your spouse, to a coworker, to a friend, and even to strangers:

"What is going on in your life and how can I pray for you?"

And then, if the situation allows, ask if you could say a prayer with them right now.

We have been practicing this at the McRaith

Catholic Center, the pastoral center of the Diocese of Owensboro. We pray with one another almost every day. We talk about things in our lives and families that need prayer, and we pray for, support, and follow-up with one another to ensure that we know each other cares, and that we keep putting our needs before God and trusting that God will provide.

This practice is so simple, and the conversations will surprise you. Your faith will grow, and others will know that you, and God, care for them.

Want more? Listen to the webinar at: <https://vimeo.com/742811795/1df224fe4c>, and start evangelizing today!

Peace in Christ,

Jeff ■

Love doesn't throw stones

BY DEACON JAY W. VANHOOSIER, OFFICE OF FAITH FORMATION

As we approach another election (I hear a lot of “ughs!” out there), the amount of name-calling, heated (not respectful) debate, and judgmental dispersions are on the rise. This is not new. In fact, over the course of the last 30 years, the level of disrespectful discourse has greatly increased – exponentially so over the last decade.

Why? If most of the citizens of this country are Christians, then what we witness in the public arena is a mystery! It should not be happening. It is apparent that we are awfully quick to judge, aren't we? But our faith tells us that we should not be doing this – by Jesus himself. Just keep in mind the story from the eighth chapter from the Gospel of John.

A woman caught in adultery by – wait, we are not told who caught the woman, are we? – is brought to Jesus by the elders for judgement. We are told that they were trying to trap Jesus by hoping that he would make some pronouncement that would go against “the law of Moses.” This is obvious without Jesus having to say one word. In reality, the pious elders would have already dispensed their justice and the woman would have already been stoned. But they do not. They are here in this scene – at the Temple, the most holy symbol of the “Law of Moses” – trying to get rid of this man who speaks about love all the time. And that is precisely the point: Jesus did speak about love... all the time.

To the religious leaders of the day, Jesus, in speaking about love in the way that he did, seemed to be rejecting the law of Moses. What they saw when Jesus healed on the Sabbath, ate with Gentiles, spoke to Samaritans, associated with tax-collectors, touched lepers, was a man who seemed to flout the very thing that they felt made them a unique people – the law. The sad thing? If they would have really listened to what Jesus was saying, they would have understood that the very foundation of the law that made them a unique people was... love. The love that God has for all of his creation. That is the meaning of Jesus' reply to the scholar of the law's question, “Teacher, which commandment in the law is the greatest?” in Matthew 22:36: “[Jesus] said to him, ‘You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the greatest and first commandment. The second is like it [just as important]: You shall love your neighbor as yourself. The whole law and the prophets depend on these two commandments’” (emphasis added).

Then what are supposed to do? Ignore the sin? No. That is not what Jesus was trying to say to his contemporaries, nor is what he is trying to say to us today. What he is trying to say, then as now, is that we are to always recognize the sin in ourselves! That is what he was saying in Matthew 7:1-5. Stop judging so you will not be judged. The measure with which you measure will be measured out to you. Do not be hypocrites. Splinter in your brother's eye – wooden beam in yours. Wow.

Keep in mind: Jesus did not ignore the sin in the adulterous woman. Recall his words: “Go, and from now on do not sin any more.” However, the words preceding these are the key to this whole passage: “Woman, where are they? Has no one condemned you?” She replied, “No one, sir.” Then Jesus said, “Neither do I condemn you.” The only person in the history of humanity qualified to throw a stone, did not throw a stone. He showed compassion. He threw love. And that is precisely what we are supposed to do – throw love. Rather than stand in judgment of others, love them. Do not preach at them or berate them for their faults, bring them to God by the way you live your life – a life of loving God and others as yourself. Perhaps St. Teresa of Calcutta said it best: “If you judge people, you have no time to love them.” ■

The rosaries of our late bishops

BY EDWARD WILSON, ARCHIVES

October is devoted to the Most Holy Rosary. Few devotions have received the amount of powerful praise from popes and saints alike. Last October, I wrote an article on the collection of rosaries from deceased sisters at Mount Saint Joseph. This recently caused me to wonder about our previous bishops' rosaries and the stories behind them. Surprisingly, we have quite a few and as with all items, each has a story to tell.

The archives contain many rosaries that were given as presents to our late bishops. There is a purple one that has changed color with age that is recorded to have been given as an ordination gift to Bishop Francis R. Cotton. One was sent to him as a gift from India. The most attractive of all the rosaries was given to Bishop John J. McRaith from the Society of the Arch at Brescia University. Handmade with links made of 12k gold, beads made from light blue Austrian cut crystal and a custom 12k gold Brescia University pendant that links it together, this rosary is truly eye catching. But what about Bishop Henry J. Soenneker?

We have no rosaries in the archive for Bishop Soenneker. This is not surprising as he is the bishop we have the least archival holdings on. His love for the rosary is displayed, however, in his correspondence with the prolific priest Ven. Patrick Peyton, "The Rosary Priest." In October 1971 the bishop invited Fr. Peyton to a rosary rally. Through their correspondence Fr. Peyton declared "Your invitation is another sign that the pendulum is swinging back in (sic) behalf of our Blessed Mother and the holy Rosary." He even wrote to the bishop the next year continuing to praise "the efficacious intercession of Our Lord and the all-powerful intercession of Our Lady."

In 1953, Bishop Cotton took a trip to Rome. This is where the most special rosary in the bishops' collection was acquired. There is nothing remarkable in appearance about this rosary. It is small and bone white. It is not made up of precious stones. It contains no silver or gold. However, the hand that gifted it to Bishop Cotton was the same hand that blessed it. On Oct. 16, 1953, this rosary was gifted to Bishop Cotton by Pope Pius XII and blessed upon presentation. This event truly affected the bishop and he took great pride in the gift. He was sure to record the transaction and its date. He later wrote to the archbishop of Laodicea, Archbishop Gaetano Cicognani, that the trip made him feel "much closer to the Sovereign Pontiff and the Holy See."

We as Catholics need to embrace the rosary. We need not find a devotion to it intimidating. It is a gift of love from Our Lady. Bishop, nun, cardinal, pope or layperson, the Blessed Mother has time for us all. It should be a great consolation that when we are lowered into the ground, the rosary will be the last thing our earthly hands grip, until our heavenly hands grip the hands of Our Savior. ■

A ‘beautiful sight,’ Catholic schools reunite for Rainbow Mass 2022

BY ELIZABETH WONG BARNSTEAD, THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

Coming together as a community of 17 Catholic schools for the first time since before the COVID-19 pandemic began, the multicolored uniforms of the several thousand students formed the liturgy’s namesake: Rainbow Mass.

“What a blessing for our Catholic school communities to finally again be in one place,” said David Kessler, superintendent of the Catholic Schools Office, prior to the Sept. 14, 2022 Mass held in the Owensboro Sportscenter.

“How grateful we are that we can come together and pray,” said Kessler, addressing the well over 3,000 students, faculty and staff of schools from across western Kentucky. “We are celebrating this great gift that is our Catholic schools.”

Founded in 1985 under the late Bishop John J. McRaith, the Diocese of Owensboro’s Rainbow Mass continues a legacy founded by superintendent at the time, Sr. Amelia Stenger, OSU, to bring together the students of the diocese’s schools. The concept was inspired by the Catholic Student Mission Crusade Masses that Sr. Stenger had experienced as a high school student at Mount Saint Joseph Academy.

The Mass is normally celebrated every other year. The last time it took place was 2019, but the Mass was skipped in 2021 due to COVID-19 surges and pandemic restrictions at the time.

This year, student representatives once again processed into the Sportscenter at the opening of the liturgy while carrying banners with the names of their respective schools. Besides the 3,000 from the schools themselves, multiple parents, grandparents, younger siblings and other visitors attended – not to mention the clergy and religious who participated as well.

The bilingual liturgy included Mass parts and songs in English and Spanish, and student lectors proclaimed the Word in both languages.

“What a beautiful sight,” said Bishop William F. Medley in his homily, gazing out at the crowded bleachers. “We have survived a pandemic, we have survived tornadoes, we have survived floods.”

The bishop reminded the faithful that the rainbow was created as a sign of God’s promise to humanity, and that this promise continues even into the 21st century in Kentucky.

With the Mass taking place on the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, Bishop Medley spoke to the ancient usage of crosses – that they were used for criminals’ executions as “an embarrassment.”

But to the first Christians, “Jesus Christ had changed the meaning of the cross. It did not represent criminals, but followers of Jesus Christ,” he said.

The bishop said that he and his fellow bishops wear “that big cross” – their pectoral cross – in order to keep Jesus close to their hearts.

Bishop Medley encouraged the students keep Jesus close to their own hearts, and to regularly pray, “Jesus, I love you. Jesus, thank you for dying on the cross for me. Jesus help me to always honor your cross.”

Laura Cecil, who took on the role of principal of Mary Carrico Catholic School this fall, said attending her first Rainbow Mass as the Knottsville school’s principal “brought me memories and joy.”

“Attending Rainbow Mass as a student at St. Mary of the Woods and Trinity High School, it brought back memories of the awe in seeing so many kids in one place to worship,” said Cecil. “Being there as an adult with Mary Carrico filled my heart with joy. Hearing all the children sing with excitement and love for God was amazing.” ■

Whitesville's Angels inspired, encouraged by cross country wins

BY ANNA MCDANIEL, SPECIAL TO THE WESTERN KENTUCKY CATHOLIC

On Saturday, August 27, St. Mary of the Woods School's middle school boys' cross country team placed second out of nine teams at the Madisonville Classic.

Two weeks later, on Saturday, Sept. 10, the team placed fourth out of 19 teams at Hardin County's Fairground Frenzy.

The boys shared that when they began running, some of them thought it was just "basketball conditioning." Now they are starting to see they can win.

"We spent all last season tracking personal goals," explained the Angels' coach Kristen Mikulcik. "We knew the team was improving, but there hadn't been a lot of recognition."

This is Mikulcik's second year coaching cross country with Nick Howard at St. Mary of the Woods and Trinity High School in Whitesville.

"It felt good," the middle school boys explained when asked about their team's second-place victory at the Madisonville Classic. "We had no idea we were going to win."

The boys were nearly as surprised two weeks later when St. Mary of the Woods placed at Hardin County's Fairground Frenzy.

"Building muscles takes time," said Mikulcik. "The team has been working hard and we are finally seeing the results."

Grant Howard, who has been leading the team from the start, says he now has his eyes set on coming in first. Individually, Grant placed second at the Madisonville Classic, coming in only 7 seconds behind Daviess County's lead runner. At the Fairgrounds Frenzy, he placed sixth out of 169 runners.

"Grant is a true leader," said Mikulcik. "Not only is he a talented runner. He models good practice, and his teammates follow."

Thomas Payne has also made a significant contribution to the team, placing 10th at Madisonville and 16th in Hardin County. Thomas said, "I'm so glad to see the team improve."

Thomas's attitude is shared by his teammates who make a genuine effort to encourage one another.

The elementary, middle and high school runners from St. Mary of the Woods, Mary Carrico Catholic School in Knottsville, and Trinity High School consider themselves to be three parts of one team.

"It's great to see the middle school perform so well," said Mikulcik, "but next year, they will move on to the high school and we will need elementary runners to take their place. It generally takes at least a couple years of training to be competitive in cross country."

The elementary runners follow an abbreviated practice schedule, competing mostly in local 1K races, plus, they have the opportunity to attend 2-3 larger meets. ■

Un Mensaje del Obispo Medley

Por favor voten 'Sí' por la vida el 8 de noviembre

Mis queridos hermanos y hermanas en Cristo, El 24 de junio de 2022, las oraciones de quienes apoyan la dignidad y el valor de toda vida humana fueron respondidas cuando la Corte Suprema de los Estados Unidos anuló la decisión de Roe v. Wade de 1973. Esa decisión había afirmado que el derecho al aborto estaba garantizado por la constitución de los Estados Unidos y, por lo tanto, estaba garantizado en los 50 estados. La decisión reciente de Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization revirtió esto.

Muchos de nosotros en el movimiento provida celebramos este desarrollo y tal vez nos inclinemos a descansar sobre este logro monumental. Pero debemos tener claro que la decisión de Dobbs no prohíbe el aborto, sino que remite el asunto a cada uno de los 50 estados para que lo resuelvan las legislaturas estatales.

La causa provida no está terminada, ni siquiera en Kentucky. El día de las elecciones, el 8 de noviembre de 2022, tenemos la oportunidad de votar sobre una enmienda a la constitución de nuestro estado que establece claramente que la constitución de Kentucky NO garantiza el derecho al aborto en este estado. Esto puede impedir que cualquier juez, ahora o en el futuro, afirme que este derecho puede interpretarse en nuestra constitución actual o que requiera financiación pública para el aborto.

Para ser claros: esta enmienda en sí misma no prohíbe el aborto, sino que deja esa cuestión a la legislatura estatal.

La pregunta en la boleta con respecto a la Enmienda #2 preguntará: ¿Está usted a favor de enmendar la constitución de Kentucky mediante la creación de una nueva Sección de la constitución que se numerará Sección 26A para establecer lo siguiente: "Para proteger la vida humana, nada en esta Constitución se interpretará para asegurar o proteger el derecho al aborto o exigir la financiación del aborto"?

Un voto de "Sí" apoya la enmienda de la Constitución de Kentucky para establecer que nada en la constitución del estado crea un derecho al aborto o requiere financiamiento del gobierno para el aborto.

Incluso muchos defensores de la vida se han sentido incómodos con algunas leyes estatales a través del país que no permiten ninguna excepción, incluso cuando la vida de la madre está en peligro. Algunos pueden desear que una enmienda sea aún más restrictiva. Esta enmienda no requiere ninguna restricción particular ni prohíbe ninguna excepción. La legislatura estatal tendría la capacidad de determinar la política y la ley sobre el aborto.

En el clima político en el que nos encontramos hoy, creo que esta es una buena enmienda y los insto a que consideren este asunto en oración y voten "Sí" por la Enmienda #2 el 8 de noviembre de 2022. ■

POR LA DRA. VICKY BARNES, ESPECIAL PARA EL CATÓLICO DE KENTUCKY OCCIDENTAL

De Colores! ¡Qué gran bendición haber sido testigo del Primer Cursillo Católico Hispano de Mujeres en Kentucky! ¡La presencia de estas mujeres hispanas es un testimonio de fe para todos!

Yo viví mi Cursillo un poco después de mi esposo, el diácono Tim Barnes, en la Diócesis de Owensboro, Kentucky en marzo de 2019.

Cursillo es un movimiento apostólico en la Iglesia Católica. Se enfoca en mostrar a los laicos cristianos cómo convertirse en cristianos efectivos, compartiendo las buenas nuevas a través de la mejor manera, la amistad. Haz un amigo, Sé un amigo, Trae un amigo a Cristo, es el lema del Cursillo.

El primer Cursillo en los Estados Unidos se llevó a cabo en Texas en 1957. El Cursillo en la diócesis de Owensboro lleva décadas, pero recientemente se hizo historia cuando el primer Cursillo Hispano de Mujeres ocurrió del 8 al 11 de septiembre en el Centro de Retiro Gaspar River.

El Señor concedió que el primer Cursillo de Mujeres Hispánicas se llevara a cabo el día en que celebramos el nacimiento de nuestra Virgen María, el 8 de septiembre. El Cursillo fue posible gracias al arduo trabajo y oraciones de muchos sacerdotes, diáconos y Cursillitas tanto de la diócesis de Owensboro como de la diócesis de Nashville, Tennessee. El padre Basilio Az Cuz, de Santo Tomás Moro y Vicky Barnes de San Pedro y San Pablo, fueron los puntos de contacto. Este Cursillo contó con mujeres de Guatemala, Honduras, México, Colombia, El Salvador, Panamá, República Dominicana, Puerto Rico, Perú y Estados Unidos.

fueron los directores espirituales y dieron las charlas religiosas. El equipo de Nashville y de Kentucky, bajo el increíble liderazgo de Elba Avila de Nashville, dirigieron el Cursillo. El equipo estuvo integrado por Karina Padilla, Betsy Ibáñez, Carolina Herrera, Andrea Ramírez, Irma Guzmán, María Herrera, Ana Regina Andrade, María Eugenia Hernández, Mary Ortiz, Vicki Kinnard, Elodia Mariscal, María Sánchez, Susana Flores, Felicia Elliot y Vicky Barnes. Un agradecimiento especial a Martin Schroeder por transportar a las candidatas de Hopkinsville.

Las nuevas Cursillitas que vivieron el fin de semana fueron Yolanda Perry, Ellis Salas, Bertha Rico, María Rosas, María Macario y Neria Bernal. Ellas salieron de Gasper River con la luz de Dios

y llenas del Espíritu Santo. Algunas de las frases que se escucharon fueron: “Tengo muchas ganas de conocer más a mi Señor”, “Ahora sé que Jesús también me ama”, “No estoy sola”, “El Señor nos ha bendecido abundantemente”, “Nunca había recibido tanto amor y generosidad” y “Con el Señor todo es posible”.

La clausura del Cursillo fue muy emotiva. Muchos Cursillistas de Kentucky y Tennessee vinieron para mostrar su apoyo a las nuevas Cursillistas que eligieron decir “Sí” al Señor. Cuando el Cursillo llegó a su fin y los Cursillistas subieron a sus autos para ir a casa, había comenzado una lluvia torrencial, pero no había miedo, confiaban plenamente que Dios lo tenía todo bajo control. ■

El 6 de septiembre, los ministros hispanos de toda la Diócesis de Owensboro se reunieron en la Parroquia Santa María en Franklin para orar y tener una reunión. Además de una comida compartida, celebraron el cumpleaños de María Molina, la ministra hispana de la Parroquia Santa María.

También dieron la bienvenida a los invitados especiales, el Dcn. Ken Bennett, co-coordinador de la Oficina de Culto de la diócesis, y Danny May, director de la Oficina de Matrimonio y Vida Familiar de la diócesis. Esto brindó una oportunidad para que los directores se reunieran con los ministros hispanos para promover la integración eclesial en las parroquias. ■

El 7 de septiembre, la Oficina de Escuelas Católicas de la Diócesis de Owensboro organizó la Misa Arcoiris, que reúne a las 17 escuelas de la diócesis para una Misa con el Obispo William F. Medley en el Centro Deportivo de Owensboro [Sportscenter]. Se llama Misa Arcoiris porque la combinación de uniformes escolares que llenan las gradas se asemeja a un arcoiris. La liturgia incluyó himnos y partes de la Misa en inglés y en español, y los estudiantes lectores también proclamaron la Palabra en ambos idiomas. ■
